Organiser: yili

yili is an Internet resident, a black cat, an alien from Jupiter, currently physically based in Berlin. yi replicates abstract sensory experiences and reorganizes suggestive "unmanned scenes" in physical and digital spaces in its art practice. It builds containers from suspended spaces, uses enigmatic walk-in details and hyper-language content to create a sense of uncanny.

Graphics + Web design: sub:order sub:order center 亞目合作所 is an interdisciplinary creative studio with four trainee artists yili, cleo miao, xinyi li, leyuan li and their mascot waguettu. We focus on experiments in design, art, culture, and social practices. We are a small team of creatives that is independent but tight-knit, with each member taking on diverse roles. The studio frequently involves other friends and collaborators for relevant projects. Our main focus is graphic design, web design, publication design, digital media, and art direction.
